DEAR NEIGHBOURS

Peterborough's Jackson Park-Brookdale Neighbourhood is one of three Peterborough neighbourhoods participating in GreenUP's NeighbourPLAN participatory planning program. Through numerous activities, including asset mapping, infrastructure audits, exploratory walks, and travel route mapping, residents of this neighbourhood have created a Community Portrait. The portrait shows who is using existing public space, how it is being used, and how residents perceive these spaces. In March, many residents participated in a visioning workshop up at Highland Heights Public School. There was great energy in the room, as neighbours connected with each other and discussed shared concerns and ideas. It was awesome to get so much input!

WE ARE READY FOR THE NEXT STEP

We now have a toolkit aimed at helping neighbours to take a closer look at re-imagining public space in their neighbourhood.

Contact Laura if you would like one!

The next phase will review these initial visions and the ideas they have sparked, collaboratively develop more detailed designs, discuss short and long-term goals, and identify potential partners to help work towards some of these goals.

YOU ARE AN EXPERT - WE NEED YOUR HELP!

We'd like the vision to reflect the best and most creative practices in urban planning and design, so we have invited professionals from these areas to join us, but your voice is crucial! Your experience of living in this community and using these public spaces makes you an expert and we can't do this without you. At the workshop, we'll engage in a number of activities to envision design solutions for the neighbourhood. The ideas captured during this workshop will inform the final Neighbourhood Vision, which will be a resource that belongs to the residents of the area, as well as key partner organizations.

We're excited about this process, and we hope you'll join us!
